About the Artist

Jim Jeffries is a former Senior School Librarian at Shady Side Academy and he was also a teacher in the Fox Chapel School District. For over three decades, Jim dedicated his career to teaching in both Private and Public Education. Jim retired from the Penn Hills School District in 2010. There, he taught Video and Multimedia Production. Now in retirement, Jim devotes his time to travel and photography. With a Master of Arts from Slippery Rock University and a Master of Library and Information Science from the University of Pittsburgh, Jim continues to work with multimedia; often blending his images with scripts and sound.

In this exhibit, Jim shares his portraits of Hummingbirds- ethereal winged creatures found only in the Americas. Jim travelled throughout North, Central and South America to capture them with his camera and to share them with you.
